DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

1. Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(A) as being anticipated by Horbach [3668586].

Horbach discloses a transformer including a bobbin 14, coil 12 and E-cores 18, 20 introduced into center of the bobbin, the bobbin having no protrusion part and the coil continuously wound from one side of the winding part to another side thereof, see figure 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 11-17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Horbach in view of Kawano [5736917].

Horbach discloses the invention as claimed as cited above except for the coil wound in zigzag basis in an oblique direction. Kawano discloses the winding which has insulating sheet covering outer surface of the wire, wound in zigzag basis in an oblique direction from one side of winding part to the other side such that number of windings is periodically increased in vertical direction [figure 10; col 7, line 4-7 and column 10, lines 54-57]. At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to apply the winding as taught by Kawano to Horbach. The motivation would have been to prevent the winding from collapsing and assure the withstand voltage required for winding of the transformer. Therefore, it would have been obvious to combine Kawano with Horbach.

With respect to claims 14-15, Kawano's winding having winding block as shown in figure 6 wherein the coil is continuously wound from a lower portion to an upper portion such that the coil blocks have a number of windings increased periodically in the horizontal direction.

Response to Amendment

4. Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 10-17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Kijima [4352081]; Junjie et al. [6509822] ; Banzi, Jr. et al. [6326874].

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO

Art Unit: 2832

MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
